LAB DATA

Sync Big

Discover the largest ecosystem of lab results to enhance and accelerate your research

Lab results provide objective data on a patient, confirming a diagnosis, quantitatively demonstrating disease severity and patient status, or providing genetic and biomarker details. This kind of insight can help with identifying the right patients for studies, reveal ideal clinical trial site locations, keep you informed on a patient's disease progression and overall health, or aid in running a trigger program for early diagnosis. Additionally, lab data is available in near real time, helping to accelerate your research.

Gain a wealth of patient insights

HealthVerity offers transaction-level lab results data for nearly 200 million patients. We are one of the only companies to offer access to both Quest Diagnostics and Labcorp, representing approximately 65% of the total outpatient laboratory market. This de-identified, HIPAA-compliant and research-ready data provides broad national coverage and includes geographical information and National Provider Identifiers (NPIs).
